

Dear all

In this week's digest:

- Geoscience Australia is advertising for a hazard modeller, with a focus on tsunamis: <https://candidate.aurion.cloud/ga/production/vacancies/2913458546518498~1/edit>
- A reminder to book accommodation in Darwin for MODSIM2023 as soon as possible, many hotels offer free cancellation policies, so you can book now rather than waiting. Prices are going up, so please do not delay. Some of the options listed on our website still have rooms left, but you can also check <https://www.darwinconvention.com.au/discover-darwin/where-to-stay/> for other places that may be further away from the Convention Centre, but are still affordable, for example Club Tropical Resort Darwin. Note you would probably need a hire car for transport from there.
- We are investigating the possibility of providing childcare at MODSIM2023 – please reply to this email to let us know / confirm your interest in this.
- We also offer many ways in which you can showcase your organisation and its products. Do you know anyone who might like to have an exhibition booth at MODSIM2023? Perhaps an industry group or consultant who has products relevant to the modelling community? Or through supporting our Early Career Researchers (ECRs) or one of our plenary speakers? These and more Sponsorship and exhibition options are listed on our website. Please consider these opportunities and also pass on to anyone who might be interested. We are happy to tailor an arrangement that suits your level of sponsorship, including negotiating sharing of booths or other layouts for displaying.

If you would like something included in this digest, please email it to office@mssanz.org.au

Kind regards, Karen
